Nearby Neighborhoods and Future Development

This map shows how Houghton Crossings is centrally located to nearby neighborhoods and the future development of the Atterbury Trails Planned Community Development. The highlighted area is part of the 7,800 acre Houghton Area Master Plan that is being “hard zoned” by the City of Tucson and State Land Department. The zoning has been approved by the Mayor and City Council. They are currently working on infrastructure plans and once approved, portions of the 2,500 acres will start to be auctioned off.

The Escalera Planned Area Development, 344 acres on the S.W. corner of Houghton and Valencia, will be going up for sale in 2021.

In addition, Northwest Healthcare is building a 70 bed hospital near Houghton and Old Spanish Trail approximately 5.3 miles north. The hospital will offer a broad range of services designed to keep residents close to home. With an anticipated opening date of late 2020 or early 2021, the hospital will have 70 beds with space to accommodate future growth and will employ more than 595 people.
